

BlueRush Launches COVID-19 Personalized Video Library to Support Communities During the Pandemic

Helping communities navigate during this unprecedented time through educational, sharable personalized video content

TORONTO, April 27, 2020 /CNW/ - BlueRush Inc. ("BlueRush" or the "Company") (TSX-V: BTV), an emerging personalized video Software as a Service ("SaaS") company, today announced the launch of its COVID-19 personalized video microsite which will host a series of helpful videos designed to be shared with family and friends and increase awareness on best safety practices.

"To support our community while COVID-19 presents ever-evolving challenges, we have created a series of personalized videos to help folks navigate our new normal," said Steve Taylor, CEO of BlueRush. "Our hope is that this content, informed by medical and financial experts, can help individuals feel confident and safe during this uncertain time."

The video content aims to increase understanding and adoption of important safety, health and financial advice to help communities through this difficult time. Users will see their name throughout each personalized COVID video to increase personal relevancy and resonance of the content. The videos take a lighthearted approach to serve as educational content for a younger audience and provide some optimism for the general public during the pandemic.

"Our goal is to help as many people as possible," Mr. Taylor continued, "All of our COVID-19 content is free to access and share. In order to maximize the project's reach and impact, we are partnering with organizations who share our mission and want to help our communities. There is no monetary requirement to partner with us, we only ask that you socialize and share the content across your networks."
